

TENNESSEE EVENTS

Gathered from All Corners of the State and Told in Briefest Form

Franklin.—The many rumors and incredible stories which have been in circulation referring to the charge of wife murder against Dr. George C. Paschall of Arrington, and which have from time to time appeared in the papers of the state, may have created the impression outside of Williamson county and the community where Dr. Paschall lives that all of his acquaintances and neighbors have fallen away from him. On the contrary, Dr. Paschall enjoys the confidence and esteem of the great majority of those who know him, as evidenced by the large number who have come here to sign his bond.

Knoxville.—Dr. S. M. Johnson, director general of the Lee Highway association, has requested the Tennessee highway department to join with him in soliciting the service of a Federal superintendent of highways on the Bristol-Chattanooga link of the great cross-country road, and having secured the services of a Federal maintenance expert for one of the Virginia sections of the route, it is hopeful of success in this latest request.

Huntingdon.—Hefel college, McKenzie, has recently received the private library of W. L. Danley of Nashville, former passenger agent of the N. C. & St. L. railway. Mr. Danley is a ruling elder in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, and said he wished to give his library where it would do the most good. There are 3,600 volumes in the collection, embracing Greek and Latin texts, theological works and the masterpieces of literature.

Columbia, Tenn.—Houston Thomas, of the Tennessee Commission company, and one of the biggest buyers of live stock on the Nashville market, has been here mingling with his numerous friends. Mr. Thomas is optimistic over the outlook for live stock. He said he believed the live stock market had hit the low mark and he confidently expected to see a better market at an early date. Mr. Thomas is a Maury countian.

Ripley.—The Rev. F. J. Harrell, former pastor of the Ripley Baptist church, who resigned a few weeks ago to enter the evangelical field, is now in the midst of a successful revival meeting at Obion. Dr. Harrell is one of the south's greatest pulpiter orators and an evangelist of many years' experience, he having been engaged in this work before coming to Ripley.

Nashville.—Crop conditions and other agricultural problems confronting the field men of the various sections of the country will be the principal topics of discussion at the annual conference here Nov. 12-14, inclusive, of the southern agricultural statisticians and officials of the bureau of markets and crop estimates of the United States department of agriculture.

Columbia.—Maury county students in Middle Tennessee Normal have espoused a Maury County club and elected Hattie P. Morrow secretary. It will be Mr. Morrow's duty to keep the people at home posted upon the activity of Maury countians in the big school.

TOLL BILL SMASHES ALL PARTY LINES

SENATE VOTES EXEMPTION TO YANKEE SHIPS AT PANAMA BY VOTE OF 47 TO 37.

FINAL VOTE CAST 47 TO 37

Lodge Claims Passage of Measure May Hurt America's Case at Disarmament Meeting—Amendments Voted Down.

Washington.—The Borah bill for the exemption of American coastwise vessels passing through the Panama Canal has been passed by the senate, 47 to 37. The measure now goes to the house, where it is expected it will be subject to indefinite delay in consideration, at least until after the conference of limitation of armament.

Before proceeding to a final vote the senate rejected without a roll call two substitutes offered by Senator King, democrat, Utah, to authorize the president to negotiate for arbitration of the tolls question and to appropriate $7,000,000 as a subsidy for American vessels using the canal.

Debate on the Borah proposal disclosed a split in party ranks, opponents declaring the bill was inappropriate, while Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, declared he had talked with President Harding and Secretary Hughes and they did not share such views.

Twelve democrats voted for the bill on the roll call, while 17 republicans voted in opposition, so that the democratic proposal was regarded as the determining factor. Democrats who gave their support to the bill were:

Ashurst, Arizona; Broussard, Louisiana; Harrison, Mississippi; Kendrick, Wyoming; Ransdell, Louisiana; Reed, Missouri; Robinson, of Arkansas; Shields, Tennessee; Stanley, Kentucky; Underwood, Alabama; Walsh, Massachusetts, and Walsh, Montana.

Stepinas Returned.

Paris.—The Batignoles tunnel, near the St. Lazare station, in which a rear end collision of two suburban trains recently resulted in 40 deaths and numerous injuries, will be demolished. Minister of Public Works M. Le Troquer, who made this announcement, said authorization for demolition of the tunnel was given by the 1912 parliament, but that the work had been postponed because of the war.

Threw Wife in River.

Detroit.—Herman F. Rademacher confessed, according to Allen W. Kent, assistant prosecutor, that he murdered his wife recently by throwing her over the railing of Belle Isle bridge into Detroit river, where she was drowned. ## DEMOCRATIC PARTY STANDS SAME

FORMER STANDARD BEARER RE-NEWS PARTY PLEDGE IN A MESSAGE.

NOT A RENEGADE NATION

When Pathetic Status of America's Foreign Affairs is Understood, Democracy Will Be vindicated, He Says.

Dayton, Ohio.—The Democratic party stands "inflexibly as we did when the polls closed last November for the League of Nations with the United States as a co-operative part of it," former Gov. James M. Cox, Democratic presidential candidate last fall, declared in a message sent to the Democratic club of Southern California, banqueting at Los Angeles.

"History will record the abandonment of our allies as an unworthy episode," the message continued. "It would have been no worse if our troops had been withdrawn from France on the morning of the battle of Chateau Thierry."

The message, in part, follows:

"Let me extend my felicitations to the members and guests of your organization. The events of the past year, notwithstanding they brought defeat at the polls, are heartening to the cause of Democracy. In the midst of chaos internationally and uncertainty in Republican policy, we stand inflexibly as we did when the polls closed last November, for the League of Nations with the United States as a co-operative part of it."

BREWERY IS SEIZED.

Chicago Enforcement Agent Says City Could Be More Dry.

Chicago.—The Mutual Brewing company of Chicago was seized after instructions to take such action had been received from Washington by federal prohibition enforcement officers. In a statement regarding reports to intervention by Washington authorities in Chicago's liquor problems, John Kjellander, local enforcement officer, asserted that is given the men he would make Chicago "as dry as the Sahara." Stopping the transportation of liquor into the city was the solution of the problem, he said.

In Jacksonville Jail.

Jacksonville, Fla.—J. S. Goodbred, 40, a resident of the Maxwell district of this county, is held in jail here at the request of the authorities of Brunswick, Ga., in connection with the robbery of a bank there about two years ago.

Gasoline Up One Cent.

New Orleans.—Gasoline was sold here at an increase of one cent on the gallon. It is being sold at 19½ cents per gallon at the filling stations. W. J. Pissel to the Gulf Refining Company states that the rise is due to the 50 per cent increase in the cost of crude oil.

Bishop for Unemployed.

London.—Unemployment demonstrations have been held in various parts of the country. The bishop of Winchester, in a letter read at a demonstration in Farnham, gave his recommendation to the demonstrators, telling them that the government had been slow in taking up the matter and that the unemployed were right in pressing it for action.

Find Lost Handbag.

Nashville, Tenn.—A handbag belonging to W. N. Estes, Jackson, containing certified checks to the amount of $6,000, thought to have been stolen from the depot platform here, was found in the coach in which Mr. Estes had ridden. The contents were intact.

CHOLERA TAKES LARGE TOLL

Losses Have Been Greatly Reduced and May Be Wiped Out Entirely By Right Treatment.

August and September take the heaviest toll through hog cholera, the bane of swine keepers, which in years past has wiped out entire herds after an expensive season's feeding. In certain years the hog cholera toll has run as high as 144 per 1,000 through the United States. Preventive measures developed by the United States Department of Agriculture have reduced the toll to 38. The experts, whose work has effected this annual multimillion-dollar saving, assert confidently that the means of absolute insurance from hog cholera losses is within the reach of any farmer who cares to take the precautionary trouble, and expense.

The serum treatment, developed about 15 years ago and first put into general use within the last six or seven years, gives immunity if injected in time. This serum treatment is described fully in Farmers' Bulletin 834, which should be kept at hand for ready reference by every hog raiser.

Hog cholera is an epidemic disease; that means that it spreads from one or a few initial cases. It is carried in bedding, sty refuse, feeding troughs, loading shutes, railroad cars, farm implements, clothing of laborers, and even in running water. Sanitation will cut down the danger, but it is not an absolute preventive. Unless the farmer has taken the precaution to have all of his herd immunized with serum and virus, an operation which should be done by a veterinarian or a specially trained layman, there is always possibility of the disease breaking out unexpectedly.

The farmer's protection lies in the fact that usually only one or two members of the herd are affected at first, and he should be on the watch. One or two hogs will refuse to come up to feed with the herd. They will remain hidden in the nest, and when driven from the bed their backs may be arched and they may appear cold and shiver. The rest of the herd may remain apparently well for several days, when others are likely to be found affected in about the same way as those first attacked. As the disease progresses the sick hogs become gaunt or tucked up in the flanks, and have a weak, staggering gait, the weakness being most marked in the hind legs.

If the lungs are affected there may be a cough, which is particularly noticeable when the hogs are disturbed. The eyes usually are inflamed and show a whitish discharge, which may cause the lids to stick together. Constipation, which is commonly present in the early days of the disease, is generally followed by a diarrhoea. As the disease reaches its height red or purplish blotches are likely to appear upon the skin of the ears, of the belly, and the inner surfaces of the legs.

Some of the symptoms mentioned may be present in other diseases, but the owner should remember that cholera spreads rapidly through a herd and no time should be lost in calling a veterinarian to diagnose the disease and administer the proper treatment. If the disease is cholera heavy losses can be averted only by prompt administration of hog cholera serum.

Autopsy should be performed upon hogs which die of any disease. Indications of cholera are described in the bulletin referred to. The most important thing is to be prepared and to act promptly.

Locate hog lots and pastures away from streams and public highways, and do not allow hogs to run on free range or highways, nor to have access to canals or irrigated ditches.

Do not drive into hog lots after driving on public highways.

Do not use hog lots for yarding wagons and farm implements.

GIVE PURE DRINKING WATER

Necessary for Best Health of Fowls as All Poultrymen Know—Epsom Salts Help.

Pure drinking water is necessary, as all our good poultrymen and poultrywomen know. An occasional dose of Epsom salts, twenty grains to the quart, followed by thirty grains of bicarbonate of soda to each quart of drinking water is a cleanser reported by some of our breeders as being beneficial.

LOVE TOKEN IS NOT WANTED

Resort "Bud" Advertiser When Pin Owner Fails to Call for Frat Pin.

On Saturday night at the shore hotel where Florence spends the summer, cottagers and week enders appear on the ballroom floor for the weekly dance. On these occasions Florence dances with so many men she can't remember all their names. It was after one of these Saturday night dances that Florence found she was wearing a fraternity pin. A blond-haired boy whom she had just met coaxed her to take the pin while sitting beneath the moon. Florence kept the pin for several days and then became anxious over the owner's failure to return for it. So she placed the following advertisement in the local paper:

"Young man with blond hair who gave girl fraternity pin while sitting by the sun dial during a dance at the hotel last Saturday night will please call for his pin."—New York Sun.

Wanted to Fight Wildcats.

William M. Knight addressed a crowd of negroes on the circus grounds at Louisville.

He described himself as an "annihilator" and a "killer," and offered to do combat with all the wildcats in the circus menagerie, predicting a direful outcome for the wildcats.

Furthermore, he challenged anyone in his audience to gallop that he was the "gamest gamecock" on those grounds. Copious draughts of witch hazel, he said, had made him what he was, and he was about to expound further on the rejuvenating effects of that beverage when a policeman took him away on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

An American Mice.

For a quarter of an hour the master had been giving examples of the names of rivers which in Greek were feminine, when he noticed one boy, blissfully unconscious of the mental edification he was missing, contemplating the beauties of nature through the classroom window.

"Jones!" he roared, "give me a feminine river!"

The dreamer stirred, and in a flash of inspiration answered: "Sir, the—the—Mississippi, sir!"—Exchange.

He started a good pudding-proof, but he didn't finish it.

There's a lot of trouble in the world from puddings that taste good but don't do good.

They "eat" well, but that ends the recommendation.

Sanitariums are full of pudding-eaters who stopped the test at taste and forgot to inquire whether their food gave the body what it needed—until the body rebelled.
